Fictional College Library Policy

Sample institutional document • Created only to test PDF ingestion in a RAG project

1. Purpose and Scope

The college library supports teaching, learning, and independent study by providing access to books, reference materials, periodicals, and approved digital resources. This sample policy describes basic membership, borrowing, conduct, and service procedures for students and staff. It is a fictional document and must not be treated as an official policy of any real college.

2. Library Membership

All currently enrolled students may apply for library membership. Applicants must show a valid college identity card and complete the library membership form. The library creates one membership account for each eligible student. Members should keep their identity details up to date and must not lend their library account or identity card to another person.

3. Borrowing Entitlement and Loan Period

A student may borrow up to three books at one time. The standard loan period is fourteen calendar days. Books should be returned on or before the due date printed on the issue receipt or displayed in the library account. A member may request a renewal before the due date, provided that another member has not reserved the item and the library has not placed a restriction on renewal.

4. Reference Materials and Restricted Items

Reference books, rare materials, newspapers, and journals are normally intended for use inside the library. These items may not be taken outside the library unless written permission is granted by the librarian. The library may temporarily restrict borrowing of high-demand materials during examinations or other busy academic periods.

5. Renewals and Reservations

A student who needs a book for a longer period should request a renewal before its due date. A renewal may be refused when the book has been reserved by another reader, when the member has an overdue item, or when the library has announced a temporary restriction. Members may ask library staff to place a reservation on a book that is currently issued to another reader.

Library Policy — Procedures and Services

6. Late Returns, Lost Books, and Damage

A book returned after its due date may incur a late fine of five fictional currency units per book for each day overdue. The fine amount in this sample is illustrative only. A member who loses or damages a borrowed item should report the matter to library staff as soon as possible. Staff will explain the replacement or compensation procedure applicable to the item. The library account may be restricted until the matter is resolved.

7. Library Opening Hours

For this fictional sample, the library is open from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday through Saturday. The library is closed on Sundays and on college-declared holidays. Opening hours may be changed during examinations, vacations, or special institutional events. Any temporary change should be displayed on the library notice board.

8. Reading Room Conduct

Members should maintain silence in reading areas, keep mobile phones on silent mode, and avoid disturbing other readers. Food and drinks are not permitted near books, computers, or other library materials. Library furniture and equipment should be used carefully. Members must follow reasonable instructions given by library staff.

9. Use of Computers and Digital Resources

Library computers are provided for academic work, catalogue searches, and access to approved learning resources. Users must sign out of personal accounts after use and must not install software or change computer settings. Access to subscription-based digital resources is subject to the terms displayed by the library.

10. Questions and Assistance

Students who cannot locate a book, need help renewing an item, or have a question about a fine should contact the library help desk during opening hours. If a concern cannot be resolved by the help desk, the student may request assistance from the librarian.
